

| ORTHOBIOLOGICS

- [1] E. Bonacina, S. Lopa, F. Segatti, D. Mercuri, M. Moretti, L. Zagra. Hydrogels Enriched by Human Bone Marrow Stromal Cells as a Future Tool to Improve Osteo-Integration of Titanium Implants. Hip International, 20(03): 370-371, 2010.
- [2] G. Leone, M. Delfini, M.E. Di Cocco, A. Borioni, R. Barbucci. The applicability of an amidated polysaccharide hydrogel as a cartilage substitute: structural and rheological characterization. Carbohydrate Research, 343: 317–327, 2008
- [3] G. Leone, M. Fini, P. Torricelli, R. Giardino, R. Barbucci An amidated carboxymethylcellulose hydrogel for cartilage re generation. J Mater Sci: Mater Med, 19: 2873–2880, 2008
- [4] A. Chiumiento, A. Dominguez, S. Lamponi, R. Villalonga, R. Barbucci. Anti-inflammatory properties of superoxide dismutase modified with carboxymetil-cellulose polymer and hydrogel. J Mater Sci: Mater Med, 17: 427–435, 2006
- [5] R. Barbucci, G. Leone, M. Monici, D. Pantalone, M. Finid, R. Giardino. The effect of amidic moieties on polysaccharides: evaluation of the physicochemical and biological properties of amidic carboxymethylcellulose (CMCA) in the form of linear polymer and hydrogel. J Mater Chem, 15: 2234–2241, 2005